Time to reflect

Brighten up your home with these unique statement pieces.

The New Year is here! Time to start reflecting on the goals for the year ahead – one of which will hopefully be completing the build of your dream home. At this point you might find yourself indulging in the selection of decorative accessories and furnishings. Adorning your home is a great way to inject your personality into your new home and a perfect opportunity to show off your signature style. Reflective furnishings can open up any room, be it large or small. Whether you are considering brightening up your home or adding small signature pieces to a country cottage, this is the style for you. Here i-build has collated some outstanding and unusual statement pieces to motivate your design inspiration, from fine crystal chandeliers to delicate handmade glass candlesticks. These simple, yet compelling designs are sure to inject a sense of luxury and opulence into your new home.
